A photographic exhibition celebrating the work of the Victorian Society in association with the Architectural Heritage Society of Scotland - free entry

1 – 30 OCTOBER

MITCHELL LIBRARY

Granville Street, Glasgow, G3 7DN

Free admission Monday – Thursday (9.00 – 8.00), Friday - Saturday (9.00 – 5.00)

This exhibition of photos from around the country shows examples of the best Victorian and Edwardian buildings and structures that the Victorian Society has campaigned to save, and some that have been lost. It demonstrates the Society's success in changing public attitudes towards the architecture of the nineteenth century, and its continued relevance for the twenty-first century.

Guest speaker : James Macaulay
